From ex-Queen Liliuokalani of Hawaii Filed on Thursday.

A Lengthy Document Submitted to Secretary of State's Office.

The Senate Committee to Take Up Treaty at Next Regular Meeting.

Expressions of Views from Germany and France on Treaty.

Washington, June 17. This afternoon ex-Queen Liliuokalani filed a lengthy protest in the office of the Secretary of State. It was delivered to Mr. Sherman by Mr. Joseph Heleluhe, representing the native Hawaiians, accompanied by Capt. Julius A. Palmer, the American secretary of Liliuokalani.

The protest is a formal document, objecting to ratification. The treaty is declared an act of wrong, an invasion of the rights of the ruling chiefs and an act of injustice to her. It reviews the circumstances of the overthrow in Hawaii and emphasizes the fact that she yielded to forces of the United States to avoid bloodshed. It claims that the present government in Hawaii has no proper authority.

Needn't Worry About Samoa.

Berlin, June 17. The Vossische Zeitung thinks the action of the United States imposes upon Germany and England the necessity of devising measures to prevent the adoption of a similar policy as to Samoa.

A Sensible View.

The Post, however, expresses the authoritative view held here when it says: "Germany has long regarded Hawaii as within the sphere of American interests and can scarcely find any pretext either to question the right of the United States to annex or to interfere by protest or obstruction."

Important Opinion.

Paris, June 17. The Temps says: "We regard the annexation of Hawaii less as the result of a carefully considered plan than as an attempt to relegate to obscurity the dangerous thorny affairs of Cuba."

Senate Committee Will Take It Up at Next Regular Meeting.

Washington, June 17. Senator Davis, chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, said today that the committee would take up the Hawaiian treaty at the next regular meeting, which will be held on Wednesday of next week, but that no special meeting would be held for that purpose.

He said that the treaty would in any event be held in committee a sufficient length of time to permit all sides to be heard for that the time would be controlled somewhat by the indications as to whether the Senate would consider the treaty at the present session.

On this latter point the Senator declined to express an opinion.

HON. FRED. ATWOOD

Appointed Trustee of the State Reform School.

Augusta, Me., June 17. Hon. Fred. Atwood, of Winterport, was appointed trustee of the State Reform School by Gov. Powers today.

Mr. Atwood is 59 years of age and has been engaged in business in New York, Boston, and Providence, R. I. He returned to Maine, however, and during the war filled several large contracts for the government, furnishing ship stock. He is a prominent Republican. For several years he has been a trustee of the New England Agricultural Society; trustee of the Maine State College and East Maine Conference Seminary. He served on the staff of Govs. Bodwell and Marble, and was a member of Governor Cleaves' council.

Gov. Powers appointed the following as trustees for the Maine School for the Deaf: George T. Bisbee, Rumford Falls; Henry T. Cox, Edward B. Winslow and W. D. Bronson, of Portland; Lucius H. Kendall, of Biddeford.

AT MYSTIC PARK.

Three Good Races Witnessed by Crowd Thursday.

Medford, Mass., June 17. The races at Mystic today drew a large holiday crowd, and three good races were run off. The 2 20 pace required 7 heats, the longest race so far this season in the East. It was won by A. S. L. Jr. (McDonald); Sunland Belle (Payne) 2. In this race Esperanza, though distanced in the last heat, showed up in fine form. Reina had no difficulty in taking the 2.07 pace in three straight heats; Kentucky Star, 2d. Palon, a Palo Alto horse, won the 2.20 trot.

Launching at Bath.

Bath, Me., June 17. Lightships No. 68 and No. 69, built by the Bath Iron Works, were successfully launched from the works this afternoon in the presence of about 2000 people. No. 68 was the first one started down the ways. She went easily and the jack did not have to be used. She was christened by Miss Edna, the young daughter of Chief Draughtsman Wm. C. Busselleyre. As she reached the water, the ship was caught by waiting tugs and towed to the dock.

As soon as No. 68 was well under way word was given to wedge up No. 69. The wedging was done in three minutes. After a slight delay, caused by having to train a derrick a little to clear, word was given to start her and she slipped easily down the ways. She was christened by Miss Margaret, the young daughter of Consulting Engineer Charles E. Hydorn. She was at once picked up as No. 68 had been and was towed to the dock. The two new lightships take their names from the stations upon which they are to be placed. They are both of the latest type and have all modern improvements. They are large and roomy, displacing about 600 tons. The conservation is of the composite type.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Bates, of Portland, were in the city Thursday at the Bangor House.

The True Remedy.

W. M. Repine, editor Pinkliwa, Ill., Chief, says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have a certain and sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottles free at Ara Warren's Drug Store.

Portland, Me., June 17. Today's game with Bangor abounded in sensational plays and was interesting throughout. The visitors tied the score in the eighth. Meagher hit twice for two bases and Trainor bringing him in. With Trainor on third and no one out, Miller was substituted for Stevens and the side was retired. In the ninth the home players fell upon Newell, batting him for five singles and a double and scoring five earned runs. Birmingham, Meagher and Roussey made sensational one-hand catches. Attendance 400. The score:

The Stock Market.

New York, June 17. The strong upward tendency of prices for securities was resumed on the stock exchange today after the reactionary tendency of the last two days. A powerful group of professional traders have been selling out their holdings during the two previous days to realize profits. They have coupled this manoeuvre with the expression of the conviction that the market would prove healthier for a reaction rather than with too long a continuance of a steady advance.

Today's developments indicate either that the large operators have completed the taking of their profits or have found the market too firm to effect a marked reaction. The market today was largely professional. Prices for Americans were lower in London and this worked an early decline for the international here, which was practically the only exception to the uninterrupted advance of the whole market all day, except a few profit-taking sales at the close. The small lines of short selling which were put out in a tentative way yesterday, were driven to cover today and added to the strong factors in the market.

Some of the specialties enjoyed the benefit of special influences, and this also added to the strength of the market. St. Paul was the leader of the market in volume of transactions. Chicago Gas, Burlington and Sugar coming next in the order named. St. Paul was retarded by London selling, but was strong on the second week statement showing an increase of nearly $31,000 in gross earnings. Susquehanna pfd advanced 1¾ and Cotton Oil pfd 2½. In D. & H. moved over a range of 2¾ and closed ¾ lower on the day.

The net gains, which were general throughout the list, reached a point or over in sugar, Chicago gas, tobacco, starch, Rock Island, Burlington, Northwest, Omaha, N. J. C., and Manhattan. N. P. pfd was heavily dealt in and advanced 3%.

The bond market continued to display marked strength. The aggregate sales were $1,267,000. Governments were neglected but quite firm. The sales were $3,000.

Found Dead in Bed.

Belfast, Me., June 17. Horatio N. Woodcock, 80 years old, was found dead in bed at his home in Searsmont this morning. He was a brother of ex-Mayor M. P. Woodcock of Belfast, and leaves two sons.

STILL MORE GOOD WORK.

The Senate Progressed Well With Tariff Bill Thursday.

Good Majorities in Each Case When a Vote Was Taken on Contests.

That "6,000,000" Cuban Petition Proves to Have Been Signed by Only 14,562.

Washington, June 17. The Senate made greater progress today on the tariff bill than on any day since the debate opened. Two entire schedules, covering 20 pages, were completed, namely, schedules H, on spirits, wines and beverages and schedule K, on manufactured cotton goods. This brings the Senate to the flax schedule, with the important wool schedule next.

The portion of the bill passed today is substantially the same as that reported, all committee changes being unimportant, while the opposition amendments of Mr. Jones, of Arkansas, and Mr. Vest were systematically rejected by majorities varying from 3 to 10. Mr. Allison secured the addition of a new paragraph to the committee on schedule with a view to compensating the cotton manufacturers.

Senate in Detail.

Washington, June 17. There was little delay in proceeding with the tariff bill when the Senate met today. The spirits schedule was proceeded with. Brandy was agreed to as reported at $2.25 per gallon.

In paragraph 280, on motion of Mr. Allison, the House provision was restored.

The remaining paragraphs on spirits, 280 to 293, inclusive, were agreed to as reported without opposition. The wine paragraph led to some discussion. That on champagne and other sparkling wines was agreed to as reported. The committee paragraph on still wines was perfected by striking out the provision for an additional duty of 3 cents on each bottle or jug and the substitution of a provision that the filled bottles or jugs shall pay the same duty as if empty.

Mr. White (Cal.) presented statements from representative wine men of California criticising the Senate paragraph on wines as not affording sufficient protection.

Mr. Vest (Mo.) said the rates were practically prohibitory. In effect, it compelled people to drink California wine or else go without wine. The Senator said he shared the Bible doctrine: "Take a little wine for thy stomach's sake."

The Senate paragraph was then agreed to.

On ginger ale, soda water, etc., the committee changed the wording from "other similar waters" to "beverages containing no alcohol."

Mr. Jones (Ark.) moved to reduce the rate on ginger ales, etc., in three-fourths pint bottles from 18c to 14c per dozen; rejected, 23 to 33.

Mr. Teller (Silver Rep., Col.), who has just returned after an extended absence, cast his first tariff vote with the Republicans.

On mineral waters, Mr. Vest moved to strike out the entire paragraph and place these waters on the free list. He said many invalids were dependent upon the use of these waters. He presented a protest from the leading physicians throughout the country against the duty. Mr. Vest's motion was rejected. Mr. White moved to substitute the Wilson bill rates. Rejected.

The paragraph was then agreed to, with a committee provision that all filled bottles shall have the character of their contents blown in the bottle.

Schedule I, cotton manufactures, was then taken up. The first paragraph (201), cotton thread and yarn, was contested by Mr. Jones (Ark). He spoke at length on the ability of the American manufacturer to compete against the foreign producer without the high duties.

Mr. Mills (Texas) declared that every pound of cotton grown in this country could be manufactured in American factories if the elements of cotton production—dye, machinery, coal, etc., were not so heavily taxed.

Mr. Vest commended to Republican Senators the view of James G. Blaine, "the greatest apostle of protection that ever lived in the United States," expressed in 1881, that there was no reason why the American cotton manufacturer could not compete with England for the cotton production of the world.

The debate, although on the first paragraph of the cotton schedule, took a wide range, covering the entire cotton question.

Mr. Jones (Ark.) offered an amendment in the nature of a test of the entire cotton schedule, proposing the Wilson rates on cotton thread and yarns. Rejected, 20—30. Mr. McEnery (La.) voted with the Republicans in the negative. The Democratic Senators, Bacon, Clay, McLaurin and Tillman, who had voted for a duty on raw cotton, were in the affirmative on this motion to reduce the rate on manufactured cotton.

After this contest rapid progress was made on the cotton schedule, the paragraphs being agreed to as reported. When paragraphs 307 and 308 were reached, relating to cotton cloth from 200 to 300 threads to the square inch and exceeding 300 threads, Mr. Jones moved to substitute the Wilson rates, which were about ½c a yard less.

This brought out a speech from Mr. Butler (N. C.) against the bill as a class measure. Mr. Jones' amendment on cotton cloths was rejected, 13—27. Mr. Jones also moved to substitute the Wilson rates on handkerchiefs. Rejected. Mr. Vest moved to reduce the duty on readymade clothing, neckties, etc., from 50 per cent. ad valorem to 40 per cent. Rejected. He also moved to substitute 40 per cent. ad valorem for 9 cents and 25 per cent. ad valorem on cotton values. Rejected, 20—27.

Mr. Vest stated as to the item of hose, shirts, drawers, etc., that the heavy duties were imposed on the low grade of goods used by the poor. Amendments proposed by him and Mr. Jones embodying the Wilson rates were rejected. That on stockings was defeated, 23—31.

On motion of Mr. Allison paragraph 317 was changed to exclude braids and gorings, insertions, suspenders and brums at 40 per cent. and reducing the rate on labels for garments to 50c per pound and 20 per cent. ad valorem.

Mr. Allison also proposed a new paragraph, 319½, with a view to meeting the duty heretofore imposed on raw cotton. He said the duty on raw cotton, if it remained in the bill, would probably require an entire overhauling of the cotton schedule at a later stage. The additional paragraph provides that all cotton yarns finer than No. 10 single and the goods manufactured thereof, the duty shall be 10 per cent. in addition to the rate of the cotton schedule.

Mr. Vest said this was a direct result of the action in placing a duty on raw cotton. It was a part of the interdependent treat of the protective system.

Mr. Vest declared that at the outset Mr. Aldrich had said the committee amendments reduced the House rates, while under the influence of the caucus, these reductions were being abandoned and the House rates reported.

Mr. Allison answered that history was repeating itself and he recalled, amid amusement the trouble over the Wilson bill debate.

Mr. Tillman (S. C.) said he was one of the Democrats voting for a duty on raw cotton. He avowed that he wanted the bill loaded as heavily as possible so as to disgust the people and have them "turn you out."

If his Democratic associates could get any consolation by twitting him for voting for his section in this "general game of grab" well and good. As to the Republican Senators, he warned them that not a tariff bill could bring prosperity which gave compensatory duties to the manufacturers out of the pockets of the people.

Mr. Allison's new paragraph paving the way for compensatory rates on account of placing a duty on raw cotton was agreed to, yeas, 30; nays, 26.

The vote was a party one, the five Democrats, Bacon, Clay, McLaurin, McEnery and Tillman, voting in the negative with their associates.

This completed the cotton schedule and the Senate was up to schedule J, flax, hemp, jute, and manufacturers thereof.

It was now 4.15 and as exceptionally rapid progress had been made Mr. Allison agreed to lay the bill aside. An executive session was held before adjournment.

The House.

Washington, June 17. After the reading of the journal in the House, Mr. Payne (Rep., N. Y.) moved its approval. Mr. Simpson (Pop., Kan.) asked for a vote upon it and Mr. Sulzer (Dem., N. Y.) desired to correct it in regard to the Cuban resolution presented by him. Mr. Sulzer and Mr. Bailey (Dem., Tex.) contended that the correction was first in order, while the Speaker ruled that the vote on its approval should take precedence. An appeal was taken by Mr. Bailey.

The point Mr. Sulzer desired to raise was that the journal stated that the petition presented by him had been referred to the "Committee on Foreign Affairs," while the phraseology, according to his views, should be, "to be referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, when appointed."

The ruling was sustained, 90 to 80.

A roll call on the approval of the journal was then ordered. The journal was approved, 97 to 75.

Mr. Lacey obtained the floor but yielded to Mr. Sulzer (N. Y.) who occupied the time in a speech on his Cuban petition. He desired to know, he said, what had become of that "monster petition." That petition, he declared, contained hundreds of thousands of names. He proceeded to denounce the condition of the House and its inability to act upon important questions. He characterized Gen. Weyler as a "thief, murderer and the greatest enemy to humanity the world has ever known."

He had reason to believe, he said, that if the belligerency resolution were placed on its passage it would go through by an overwhelming majority.

When the gavel fell at the end of five minutes, Mr. W. A. Stone (Rep., Pa.) secured a minute. No one had more sympathy for Cuba than he, he was saying, when Speaker Reed good-naturedly called him to order and asked him to confine his remarks to the bill under consideration. Mr. Stone begged the indulgence of the chair to be allowed to correct a statement by Mr. Sulzer to the effect that the "monster petition" contained "hundreds of thousands" of names. "The clerk has counted the signatures," said he, "and there were exactly 14,562."

At 1.36 p. m. the House adjourned until Monday.

THROUGH AN OPEN DRAW.

Train Ran Into the Chicago River at Chicago—Fifteen Persons Rescued, Six Being Injured.

Chicago, June 17. A suburban train on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road ran into the Chicago river tonight at Kinzie street through an open draw.

The engine and one car went into the water, carrying with them 15 persons. All were rescued but six were injured, none fatally.

The tracks are only four feet above the water. The accident was due to the arrangement of signal lights which seemed to indicate to the engineer that the draw was closed.

A PURSE OF $25,000.

New Idea to Stimulate Interest in Horse Trotting in this Country.

New York, June 17. It was learned today that prominent horsemen in various parts of the country have practically decided to stimulate interest in trotting races by offering a purse of $25,000 open to all trotters at an entry fee of $500, the race to be decided in New York or Chicago early in October, or a race in each city for half the entire purse, the entry to be eligible for both races.

Some of those whose names are mentioned as being connected with it are E. H. Harriman, owner of Stamboul; Nathan Straus; James Butler, president of the New York Driving Club; ex-Mayor Hugh Grant, John D. Rockefeller, President McMillan, of the Park Board; August Belmont and his brother, O. H. P. Belmont.

In the East, Col. J. Malcom Forbes, John E. Thayer and his brother Bayard and Montgomery Sears are all taking interest in the big stake. At Cleveland, Ohio, there are Frank and Wm. Rockefeller; at Lexington, Ky., Major McDowell, president of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association; and the far West's interests are cared for by Marcus Daly. Some of the horses already talked about as possible entries are Fantasy, William Penn and Cobwebs.

The Treaty.

From the remarks of certain Senators it is evident that the annexation treaty may encounter a stormy time. One Senator declared that he was ready to remain in Washington all summer if necessary to prevent ratification. Under these circumstances there may be some question as to the time when the treaty will be reported back from the committee and taken up for consideration. It is possible by reason of the lack of rules in the Senate for a few members to delay a vote almost indefinitely. Public sentiment no doubt would exercise great influence on the vote when the test came, but under the rules of due and proper deliberation the opponents would find their opportunity to prolong the discussion for almost any period of time.

It is to be presumed that the treaty will not be permitted to get in the way of the tariff bill. Every consideration of public welfare calls for as early action as is possible upon that measure. It is the one question upon which public interest is especially centered at the present moment. The fact that the treaty is now pending in the Senate is in the nature of a notice to other powers that the United States contemplates the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands, and if the spirit of hostility is sufficiently pronounced in the Senate to warrant the belief that the consideration will delay other business it may go over to the regular session.

A Good Appointment.

In the appointment of Hon. Fred Atwood, of Waterport, as a member of the Board of Trustees of the State Reform School, Governor Powers has placed the right man in the right place. No man in the State has taken a greater interest in this institution than Mr. Atwood, to whose efforts in its behalf is largely due the marked change that has taken place in public sentiment concerning the usefulness of the school. This is particularly true of the eastern section of the State. When it was impossible to do anything else with a boy the idea was to send him to this institution, the prevailing impression being that it was in the nature of sort of a half-way house to the State Prison. All this is changed now. The institution is known and appreciated for the excellent work it is doing. Many a boy who would have been an outcast in life owes his start on the road to an honest and useful career to the training and education he has received in the Reform School.

Judges, Superintendents of Schools and others in positions of authority who have heretofore hesitated about sending boys to this institution have had their opinion of it entirely changed within comparatively a few years. As we have said the existing enlightened opinion as to the great merits of the institution has in a large measure been brought about by Mr. Atwood who has taken an intelligent and effective interest both in the school and its inmates. He is perfectly familiar with the work of the school, having served on the committee of the Executive Council, and will make a valuable addition to the Board of Trustees. The character of the support he has received, coming as it does from nearly every section of the State, was of a most complimentary nature.

A Blow From Home.

Among the petitions and memorials presented in the Senate Tuesday was one by Senator Caffery from the Louisiana Sugar Planters Association "remonstrating against the statement made by him that the Wilson tariff act affords enough protection to sugar." In view of the long speeches in which the Louisiana Senator has indulged in his efforts to convince the Senate that he knew all about the sugar interests of his State this back fire must have been decidedly humiliating. Senator McEnery on the other hand came out squarely in favor of protection and his position seems to be in accord with the now prevailing sentiment of the people of the State. Even the Vicksburg Herald feels constrained to admit that the old free trade "corner-stone has lost force and virtue."

Not a Consecrated President.

The Democratic New York Evening Sun says: It is a relief to the people of the country to find that President McKinley, far from being "consecrated," is a plain, unpretentious and tolerant mortal like themselves. Every day adds something agreeable to their knowledge of him. They like his simplicity of manner, his old-fashioned courtesy, his consideration for others and his unfailing optimism. In his journeys abroad he looks the President, and his unaffected cordiality makes friends for him wherever he goes. As an offhand speaker he may not be as felicitous as Gen. Harrison, but his prepared speeches are models of style and always adequate to the occasion. Never does he lose the patience of his hearers in involved sentences and turgid elaboration of his theme. There is nothing pompous and pedantic about his rhetoric. In the brevity of his speeches there is the same consideration for the convenience of others that marks all his relations with his fellow citizens. He may be the great man at a public function, but he would rather facilitate than delay the carrying out of the programme.

Mr. McKinley had not been in the White House a month before Washington learned to know him on the street. Sometimes he walked and at other times he was seen on horseback. He neither courted nor avoided observation, and replied to all greetings with the politeness of a private gentleman. There was no trace of the great man in his demeanor. He came and went unobtrusively and chafed at the restriction of police watchfulness. One of his first acts was to banish the unsightly sentry box from the White House grounds. His departures on recreation trips and presidential journeys were not enveloped in mystery. Interest in his personality did not annoy him, and he was quite willing that all the world should know when he intended to leave, what his itinerary was, and any other details that came under the head of legitimate news. He never allowed himself to be smuggled from place to place like a prize package or a sacred personage. So it follows that his attitude toward the press was rational and tolerant. He did not shun the reporter as a person whose one mission in life was to misrepresent him and hold him up to ridicule.

In fact, Mr. McKinley had been too long in public life and was much too well balanced a man to entertain wrong ideas about journalism. He respects it and understands its aims and responsibilities. He neither ignores the craft nor slights it. On the contrary, he insists that its representatives shall be received and treated with consideration. The incident at Biltmore yesterday illustrates Mr. McKinley's opinion of the press and his personal regard for its representatives as fellow-travellers. No one can imagine his predecessor showing any concern for them under such conditions. On the whole, we think the people like a President who can rid himself of the idea that he is consecrated.

The Century

IN 1897.

ALL NEW FEATURES.

The Century will continue to be in every respect the leading American magazine. Its table of contents including each month the best in literature and the arts, presents features in American history, makes especially timely A Great Novel of the American Revolution, its leading serial feature for 1897, as it the masterpiece of its author, Dr. S. Weir Mitchell. The story, "Hitch Wynne, Free Quaker," purports to be the autobiography of its hero, an officer on Washington's staff. Social life in Philadelphia at the time of the Revolution is most interestingly depicted, and the characters include Washington, Franklin, Lafayette, and others well known in history. It is safe to say that the readers of this great romance will obtain from it a clearer idea of the people who were foremost in revolutionary days, and of the social life of the times, than can be had from any other single source. The work is not only historically accurate, but is a most interesting story of love and war. The first chapters are in the November number. Howard Pyle will illustrate it.

Campaigning With Grant, by General Horace Porter, is the date of a series of articles which has been in preparation for many years. General Porter was an aide on General Grant's staff, and a close friend of his chief, and the diary which he kept through the war is the basis of the present articles, which are striking pen-and-ink pictures of campaign life and scenes. They will be fully illustrated. The first one is in the November Century.

A new novel by Marion Crawford, author of "Mr. Isaacs," "Dr. Claudius," "Zoroaster," "Saint Ilario," etc., entitled, "A Rose of Yesterday," a story of musical life in Europe, with American characters, begins in November. The first of a series of engravings, made by the famous wood-engraver, T. Cole, of the old English masters also is in this issue. New features will be announced from time to time.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Refutation of Story of Blindness of Queen Victoria.

Her General Health is Satisfactory—Preparations for Jubilee.

Windsor, Eng., June 17.—Queen Victoria arrived here from Balmoral at nine o'clock this morning. Thousands of people lined the route from the railroad station to the castle. Her majesty looked the picture of health and repeatedly bowed to the cheering other subjects.

Were it necessary to furnish proof of the utter falsity of the cruel, sensational stories circulated in the United States by a New York newspaper which has, alleged and reiterated that Queen Victoria has suddenly and unexpectedly become almost totally blind, thus throwing a cataract over the jubilee celebrations, it could have been found in the bright and cheerful appearance of Her Majesty on her arrival here today.

In addition, it is learned that the queen has personally read numerous documents and programmes connected with the jubilee festivities during the past few days and that within the same time she has with her own hand written frequent corrections and alterations.

Finally, it is known beyond any possibility of doubt that her majesty has recently corrected the proofs of a new book on her life.

As to her general health, evidence of it being perfectly satisfactory for a woman of her age, is furnished in the fact that it was at first arranged that on reminding to be palace on jubilee day, June 22, the order of the procession would be reversed, in order to enable the queen to retire at the earliest possible moment, but her majesty has now decided to keep to the same place along the whole route thus involving, contrary half an hour of it, spent in the streets.

Is a Ideas of Hawaiian Matters.

Plymouth, Eng., June 17.—Rt. Rev. Alfred Willis D. D., anglican bishop of Honolulu, has just arrived here from Hawaii. In an interview he is quoted as saying that the feeling in the islands is against the United States and greatly in favor of British annexation. But the bishop added Great Britain has lost ground, although a third of the capital of the country is British.

Continuing, Bishop Willis remarked that he thought that if Great Britain would not take the country, the next best course was for Japan to annexate Queen Liliuokalani.

Referring to the misunderstanding of the islands by the United States the bishop said that the proposal was only advanced in order to please certain politicians, as America did not want the islands. "Because the law of expulsion would be nullified if Hawaii was annexed."

In conclusion, the bishop is quoted as saying: "I believe firmly that Japan will enforce her claims in Hawaii, in which country her commercial prospects are good."

Investigating Bomb Explosion.

Paris, June 17.—The police of this city connect the explosion of the bomb yesterday in front of the Strasburg statue, on the Place de la Concorde, with the alleged attempt to assassinate President Faure by the explosion of bombs in the Bois de Boulogne, on Sunday last while on his way to the races at Long Champs.

An eye witness of yesterday's explosion says he saw a man, on a bicycle, stop at the foot of the Strasburg statue and then ride rapidly away.

A reporter of the Soleil declares that at the moment of the explosion he saw Count von Munster-Ledenburg, the German ambassador to France, and Lieut. Col. Von Schwartz-Hopten, the military attache of the German embassy, near the Strasburg statue.

Italians and Frenchman Quarrel.

The district is furiously excited and the police are taking steps to prevent further disturbances. Another affray between French and Italian workmen has taken place at Les Salins de Giron, near Arles. An Italian was stabbed by a Frenchman, whereupon the French population made an onslaught upon the Italians, who fled and sought refuge at Buisc Courrage. The troops have been sent to the seat of the disturbance.

The Hoffman Inquest.

San Francisco, June 17.—The Hoffman inquest was resumed today with Chief of Police Lees on the witness stand. The letters offered by the witness and which had been taken from the person of the deceased were read to the jury.

They did not tend to elucidate the mystery. The bank books of the firm which had been kept by Figel, were read to the jurors and showed that Figel kept two accounts and had deposited sums to his own account during January and February amounting to over $14,000.

M. M. Rice stated that he was satisfied Figel was not one of the two men whom he saw standing in front of Hoffman's office on the eve of the tragedy. James Mulhoney stated that he saw two men arguing in front of Hoffman's office about 6.30 last evening, and heard one say to the other: "Come in and I will settle with you."

The other replied that there was nothing to settle, but both went into the office.

Blow Open an Unlocked Safe.

Westerly, R. I., June 17.—An unlocked safe in the grocery store of J. W. Miller, at Niantic, a small village five miles from here, was blown open with dynamite by professional thieves early this morning. Instead of a rich reward, the safe contained only some worthless notes, plugged coin, etc., all of which the burglars took away.

This is the fourth time that this safe has been drilled. Profiting by previous experience, instead of locking the safe, Mr. Miller did not fasten it, and he placed a sign to that effect on the door, yet the burglars used their dynamite and ruined the safe.

The cleanness of the job is thought to indicate that it was the work of professionals.

Will Signature a Forgery.

San Francisco, June 17.—During the trial of the Davis will contest a sensation was created by Mr. H. Maxwell, paying teller of the First National bank of this city, who was called as an expert to pass upon the signature of the alleged will. He declared the signature to be a forgery, and expressed the conviction that the forgery was committed by Alex Boyd, the partner of the deceased, who holds the same relation to the legatee as did Davis.

BUNKER HILL DAY.

Appropriate Celebration in Boston and Charlestown.

Elaborate Parades—Presentation to Battleship Massachusetts.

Boston, June 17.—Bunker Hill Day as the 17th of June is known in Massachusetts was ushered in with the ringing of bells, the tooting of horns, firecrackers of every description from the popping of fire crackers to those bearing the discharge of the great guns in the navy yard and those on board the United States battleship Massachusetts.

The day dawned clear and warm. Thus year the celebration was on a more extensive scale than ever before, the celebrating "Mardi Gras" proper having been arranged.

It was some time past 9 o'clock when the head of the march commenced. The make-up of the procession was much in the order of that observed in the New Orleans carnival, and, in fact, several of the floats which appeared had been brought from that city on the occasion.

In the afternoon another parade was held, in which patriotic, military, labor organizations, together with societies of numerous from the navy and the United States Catholic Winchester elements participated.

During the afternoon Gov. Wolcott and his staff boarded the Massachusetts on behalf of the commonwealth, and presented to the officers of the vessel a statue of Victory.

Address of Gov. Wolcott.

The following is an abstract of the address of Gov. Wolcott delivered at the presentation of the statue of Victory to the battleship Massachusetts this afternoon:

"Mr. Secretary, Capt. Rodgers, officers and men of Massachusetts:

"This people are thus reminded of the birth from Victoria of an infant navy and pride of the navy of the United States.

"The flash rumor of Essex and Cyane, the whaleships of New Bedford and Nantucket, the tiny Wasp and Hornet, the clipper ship of Salem, in which our sea captains years ago in the merchant service, hammered Tripoli and Algiers, the fleet sent to the bottom of the Nile could not—all these have been in part the moral renown of Massachusetts in time of peace.

Even now, eleven years before the battleship in view. In the war of the rebellion the order of Monitor, the fleet of Massachusetts, Capt. John Mudge, Admiral Farragut, commanding the second division, the first naval victory in Mobile Bay, Admiral Farragut, Admiral Bailey, Admiral Jouett, Admiral Thatcher, Admiral Lee, Admiral Bell, Admiral Lamson, Admiral Jenkins, Admiral Porter, Admiral Thomas

FAMILIAR NAMES

Sometimes Are Worth Many Thousands of Dollars.

Among manufacturers, the value of a trade mark for their products is coming to be well understood. When people get in the way of using an article which proves meritorious and which they buy and buy again, they soon come to know that article by some distinct name or in connection with some catchy line.

Some boys stood watching a painter penciling with his brush on a grocer's plate glass window the word "Postum." then was quickly painted the round red disk, and one of the boys said to the other, "It makes red blood, that is the health coffee that boys can drink."

There was no question about Postum and its trade mark being familiar to him. When an article has become so popular that its name is truly a household word and becomes a part of everyone's vocabulary, even to that of the children, the trade mark or name has become a valuable franchise, which is usually protected from confiscation by being registered in the Patent office, and some of these trade marks are valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars, as they protect large business interests from unscrupulous persons or firms who would pirate the name if not restrained by the strong arm of the law.

A reliable grocer will never offer a cheap or weak imitation of a genuine original article because he happens to make a little extra profit. But it is well to observe that when genuine Postum Cereal coffee is ordered, that you get Postum and not a spurious imitation offered as "just as good."

He did so and went to sleep in the carriage, waking up in Levant late at night, the horse having wandered into the yard of a man who formerly owned him and who came out when he heard the team come into the yard. According to the story Simpson, accompanied by Rufus Hamm, Jr., formerly a constable, went out after him, assaulted him and made a friend of Tilbetts named Smith, give an order for $10, it being indorsed by Tilbetts. He said that Hamm pretended to be a livery stable. After hearing the complaint Judge Vose issued warrants for the arrest of Simpson and Hamm and they were arrested last evening.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Postal Clerk Robert J. McCann Found Dead in Bed.

Postal Clerk Robert J. McCann died very suddenly yesterday morning. He stopped at the Bangor Exchange and was called yesterday morning, but did not respond. About 9 o'clock the room was entered and he was found dead upon the bed. The cause of his death was probably heart disease, growing out of his rheumatic trouble. He was a postal clerk on the run between Bangor and Caribou and it was the custom to work two weeks and then lay off a week.

During the past few days he had suffered with rheumatism. This week was the one that he should have worked but Monday morning he found it impossible to go to work, so he asked for a day off or a few days. He was around the city Wednesday and retired about 9 o'clock in the evening. Thursday morning he was found as stated. His remains were taken in charge by Finnigan Bros.

Mr. McCann entered the government service about four years ago. He was transfer clerk at the western depot. For a year and a half was then appointed to the Bangor and Caribou run, where he has been for over two years. His wife died several years ago. He leaves two brothers, John H. McCann and Dr. Daniel McCann, of this city, and two sisters to mourn his loss. He was much liked by all who knew him.

The funeral services will be held at St. Mary's Catholic church this afternoon at 3, after which the remains will be taken to Houlton for interment.

MISS CHAMBERLAIN'S LECTURE.

Highly Enjoyable Occasion Thursday Evening.

At the vestry of Grace church last evening, Miss Grace Chamberlain entertained in a most enjoyable manner an audience which nearly filled the room. She read "King Rene's Daughter," a Danish lyrical drama by Henrik Hertz, which has been but recently translated. It has much poetic beauty and dramatic scenes of such effect that the interest is retained from beginning to end.

The interpretation of the old drama which Miss Chamberlain gave last evening was a charming one. She possesses a deep, well modulated voice, a very pleasing appearance and an elocutionary art which brings out to full extent the different scenes at hand. Her expression was excellent and her gestures forceful and expressive. Miss Chamberlain did not overdo in the least and in the reading of an hour and a quarter was never at a loss for the right word.

The audience gave the most appreciative attention throughout and was so highly pleased that it obliged Miss Chamberlain, by continued applause at the close, to give another selection, which was also received with great favor.

OBITUARY.

William Fisko Sanford.

Mr. William Fisko Sanford, formerly of Bangor, died in St. Louis early this week, about 40 years of age.

Mr. Sanford was the son of the late Mr. William Sanford and, the grandson of the late Dr. James B. Fisko, who died in 1854. Of more recent memory are his uncles, now deceased, Rev. John O. Fisko, of Bath, and James B. Fisko and Prentiss D. Fisko, of Bangor.

Mr. Sanford graduated at Yale College, in the class with Professor Hopes, of Bangor Seminary. He made the record of a strong and brilliant man in the responsible place which for some twenty years he filled in St. Louis at the head of one of the great schools of that city. He leaves a vivid memory in the hearts of many contemporaries here, whose warm regard he had won and held by his strong and attractive qualities. One affectionate sister mourns his loss, Mrs. Charlotte Murdock, now of Chelsea, Mass.

His funeral will be held in Bangor in the vestry of the old church of himself and his family, the First church, Broadway, today, at 3 p. m. All his and their friends and acquaintances are cordially invited to be present.

To the State National Guard.

The company commanders in the National Guard of Maine have received a copy of the following communication:

Augusta, April 30, 1897.

To the Officers and Men of the National Guard of the State of Maine:

Upon severing my connection with the National Guard, after a service of four years and more with it, I desire to express my deep sense of the honor of being thus associated with you and my warm appreciation of your loyalty and support in all my official relations with you and of the regard and sympathy towards me personally that you have so generously manifested.

I believe that the national guard of the State of Maine takes rank with the best state organizations and that the universally recognized improvement it has made in recent years warrants the inference that it may become a distinguished corps of the great army of organized citizen soldiers of the country.

I shall always look back with pleasure upon the period of my connection with the guard and shall maintain my interest in its fortunes. No one will more rejoice in the advancement and triumphs which I believe the future has in store for you.

Selden Connor,
Adjutant General.

THE RAILROAD QUESTION.

Vote of Hampden Regarding the Bangor, Hampden and Winterport Line.

Thursday forenoon at 10 o'clock a town meeting was held in Hampden, to discuss the proposition submitted by the directors of the Bangor, Hampden & Winterport Electric Railway Company regarding a location through the town roads, and the building of a bridge across Sowadabscook stream. There was a large attendance of the citizens of the town and much interest was manifested. Messrs. J. H. Cutler and C. D. Stanford, of the company, and Hugh R. Chaplin, Esq., were present and Mr. Cutler and Mr. Chaplin made remarks for the company. A number of the citizens also spoke.

On the question of building a culvert at Sterns' mills, in East Hampden, it was voted that the town appropriate money for that purpose. The culvert will bridge the gully in the road just south of the present terminus of the line.

It was voted to refer the change in location to the selectmen, with power to dispose of the question.

On the bridge question the town voted not to join with the company in the construction of a new bridge over the Sowadabscook.

Track has been laid as far as Sterns' mill and the company is waiting for the iron work of the culvert. The have been laid and poles distributed down into Hampden and track laying will soon be resumed.

Her first husband was John B. Meguier, by whom she had a daughter and two sons, now in Minnesota, and one daughter, Cora Waite, of South Medway. Another daughter, Urzula Norcross, of Bangor, together with Mr. Gordon, survives her. She died of heart failure, of which she had an attack about two years ago and another on the 7th inst. The concert commences at 8 o'clock. The tickets are 35 and 50 cents and some good ones still remain unsold. There ought to be a large audience as the concert will be excellent in every particular. The quartette is one of the best in the United States, containing eminent soloists. Miss Ridgeway is said to be one of the best readers before the public.

A POISONED LIVER.

DON'T KEEP POISON IN YOUR BODY LONGER THAN YOU HAVE TO.

If your stomach poisons your liver the consequences may be serious.

What poisons arise in your stomach come from undigested food which has decomposed there. They are absorbed by your blood and go to your liver, where they paralyze its functions and make you bilious.

Finally they go into the blood again and are carried all over the body, disordering your different organs, and perhaps making you dangerously sick.

This is the origin of many diseases which are not always known for what they are.

The poisons of undigested food can only be got rid of by the use of a purifying, strengthening, digestive tonic, like the Shaker Digestive Cordial.

A few doses of this wonderful cordial will soon clear away all undigested, fermenting, poisonous substances, restore your appetite, aid you to digest your food, purify your liver and blood of all dangerous poisons, and restore to you to perfect health.

It will cure biliousness, indigestion, nausea, headache, dizziness, mental depression, weakness, gas, flatulence, constipation, loss of appetite, bad taste in mouth, stomach aches, abdominal rheumatism, etc., where other medicines will barely give relief.

At druggists. Ten cents for a trial bottle.

NO FURTHER OBJECTION

By Democrats to the Rapid Disposal of the Tariff Bill, They Say.

Washington, June 17. Some of the Democratic members of the Senate Committee on Finance said today that henceforth they would interpose no objection to the rapid disposal of the tariff bill.

They will suggest amendments and ask votes on them for the purpose of making a record, but there will, if they can control the matter, be no long speeches on the schedules, with the exception of wool, hides, the reciprocity paragraph, which the Republicans have promised to report, and a few other sections.

The indications now are that the Republicans will withdraw the internal revenue provisions of the bill.

A GIRL OUT TO KILL.

With Three Brothers She Shot a Man Who Slandered Her—A Brother Accidentally Killed by Her.

Paris, Texas, June 17. Edward Kilgore, a contractor, was killed by Miss Fanny Jackson and her three brothers today.

He was at the Ladonia station, when Miss Jackson with a sister and three brothers entered. The girl drew a revolver and fired at Kilgore. The bullets went wild and struck her brother Brode Jackson, killing him.

Kilgore dashed out behind freight cars, but Bud Jackson intercepted him and shot him. After Bud Jackson had emptied his revolver, Miss Jackson walked up and fired three more shots into Kilgore exclaiming: "You coward, you have slandered me long enough."

Examination showed that nine shots had taken effect, any one of which would have proved fatal.

A reception and dance complimentary to the delegates this evening brought the encampment to a very pleasant close.

A HOT RACE.

The Welsh Wonder Defeated McDuffie in 15-Mile Bicycle Race.

Cambridge, Mass., June 17. Winship Michael, the Welsh wonder, beat "Eddie" McDuffie on the Charles River Park track this afternoon in the hottest 15 mile bicycle race ever run in America and at the same time established a new 15-mile paced competition record of 22m. 12s.

The race was for $500 a side. McDuffie led all through the race up to the last of the 14th mile, when his pacers became worn out and the little Welshman behind a fast triplet forged ahead and won by 100 yards.

The conditions of the race were novel. Each was allowed as many pacers as he pleased and the pacers were allowed to ride all sorts of machines. The result of this was that there were three sextets, two quintets, three or four quads and a number of triplets on the track at nearly the same time.

ALL OVER THE STATE.

The Gardiner shoe factory is progressing nicely and the committee have notified the company that the building is ready for the machinery, which is now being shipped to this city. The company have engaged C. A. Robbins & Sons to put in the shafting and everything points to operations being begun in the factory at an early date.

Monday Captain E. L. Field, in charge of the works at Fort Preble and Master Workman James Ray, met with a severe accident and had a narrow escape from death. They went up a ladder to a staging and both stepped on a board which they thought was nailed but which proved to be loose. They fell backward to the ground, a distance of over twenty feet. Mr. Ray struck on his head and shoulders in a pile of rocks. He was badly hurt about his head but broke no bones. He is doing fairly well but is suffering from concussion of the brain, though it is expected that he will recover. Capt. Field broke no bones but was severely bruised. He is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

The development of the spring on White Head beach, remembered by generations of Portlanders, has revealed an unexpected capacity. Monday the stream was three or four inches in diameter, and three men working the powerful pumps, engines are used by masons to free excavations, were unable to take care of it, and a small steam pump proved hardly adequate. It was hoped with additions to the force Tuesday to get the flow fully under control. The supply will certainly be sufficient for the Ottawa hotel and all the cottages upon the island. The water is very soft and adapted to every purpose and is of a most wholesome character.

About two weeks ago there appeared at the Sebago Lake hotel, for a sojourn for his health, a well appearing gentleman who gave the name of Joseph W. Miller, who said he was a partner in a hat and cap factory at Providence, R. I. He claimed that he had once been a chef and had served in some of the best hotels of the country, among them Wentworth Hall at Jackson, N. H., and the Wentworth's establishment at Pasadena. As he gave a very successful demonstration of his cooking abilities in the Sebago Lake hotel the guests are inclined to believe that there is some truth in this part of his story. He took a great fancy to the hotel property and after he had been there a time expressed a desire to purchase it, and accordingly entered into negotiations with the Cumberland Loan Association of Portland, which has a claim on the property. He was to meet the secretary of the association on Tuesday to consummate the purchase, but on that day disappeared and has not been seen since. He owes the proprietor of the hotel for two weeks' board and a number of guests for considerable sums of money which he borrowed. One guest mourns the loss of a fine valise which he borrowed to take his washing in to a Portland laundry the day before he disappeared.

A young man from Denver, Colorado, arrived in Portland Tuesday from Denver on his bicycle. He has been about three months on the way. It took sixteen hours for him to make the run from Boston to Portland.

President Redington of the Waterville Board of Trade, has received a letter from Woodworth and Sayles, in behalf of the American Arms Company making the following proposition: "This concern is 35 years old, has an established trade, has new patents and wholly new motors for bicycles and road wagons, consequently are compelled to move somewhere into new quarters. Their movable plant cannot be duplicated for less than $225,000 and they will move the same to any section that will furnish proper buildings at low rentals, free taxes for ten years, and subscribe for $50,000 preferred, cumulative 8 per cent. guaranteed stock. This stock is to be a lien on the whole property. They will employ from 100 to 500 men. They will manufacture rifles, shotguns (sing-zing) single and double barrel shotguns, bicycles and wagons, motors, etc.

The man who supplies the Lewiston schools with pure water says the pupils drank nearly three times as much water during the wet weather as they do in fair weather. This is as easily explained as the fact that the city of New York never had so little mortality in proportion to the population as during the past month.

The workmen who were engaged in excavating for the new Portland and Yarmouth road made a gruesome discovery on Tuesday. They were digging through a bank about five feet higher than the roadway just beyond the cemetery and the Brown chapel on the Yarmouth road when they found several bones of a human skeleton, including the skull and other bones of a full grown man. Near by the workmen dug up a sort of stone wall which looked as it had been constructed by man. There were several other skeletons discovered in the vicinity but whether they were those of a human being or not it could not be told by those who made the find. Some of the neighbors in the vicinity say that there was once an old block house situated where these bones were found while others claim that the skeleton was that of an Indian. It is expected that more discoveries of this nature will be made and seekers after Indian relics are haunting the place where the Italian laborers are at work.

Humorous Letter Writing.

Pagenini Redivivus, having seen an unflattering notice of a musical performance of his, wrote the following letter: "I look upon all critics who praise me as men of intelligence and worthy of the greatest respect, and I look upon those men who disparage me as having a screw loose in their cerebral development. I consider that if the person who wrote the notice was present at the performance he is only worthy to be an inmate of a home for idiots and if he was not present she is a mean, unmanly cur and should get seven years' hard labor."

An autograph hunter, asking a well known journalist's autograph, wrote: "If you deem the request unwarranted on my part, send the autograph in your own handwriting and with your own signature that I may know it is authentic."

An Oxford undergraduate wrote to Dickens, "Sir—Seeing that you insert rhymes in your serial I send you some."

The reply was, "Sir—We don't insert rhymes without reason."—London Tit-Bits.

Drink Plenty of Water.

The Washington Star quotes a physician as follows: "A great majority of the cures effected by drinking the waters of the fashionable and unfashionable medicinal springs in various parts of the country would have resulted if the same amount of plain, wholesome, everyday water was drunk by the people who rush to those springs, and while there drink from 8 to 20 large glasses of their waters in a day. Whether there are any medicinal virtues in the waters, this treatment does them good, on account of the extra washing out they give themselves, and it is the water instead of the consistency of the same that does the work. The same people if at their homes would pass many and many a day without drinking one glass of water. It is in my opinion the water that cures, and it is water that is needed."
